Eight Republican governors say federal programs are ineffective

NEW YORK UPI-Decrying federal programs as ineffective, eight Republican governors Thursday outlined a nine point proposal aimed at preventing "the tragic epidemic of riots convulsing the core areas of so many American cities."

Shifting the burden from federal to state governments, the "action program" set forth by the GOP governors emphasized "prompt, firm law enforcement" as the cornerstone to meeting racial crisis.

Summoned by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, the policy committee of the Republican Governors Association met for six hours and set forth 60 specific recommendations.

Copies of the plan were sent to 50 state capitols and the White House.

Rockefeller said President Johnson was "delighted" to receive the suggestions, which originally were formulated by the governor for New York State. The strongest of the recommendations asserted that "prompt, firm law enforcement on a sufficient scale is absolutely necessary in preventing isolated incidents from erupting into full scale riots." Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

whose state was wracked by racial violence last month, said he regarded the firm and fast deployment of law enforcement officers as the most important section of the GOP governors' document.

Besides Rockefeller and Romney, Republican governors attending the conference included Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, John A. Love of Colorado, Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, John H. Chaffee of Rhode Island, John A. Volpe of Massachusetts and Niles A. Boe of South Dakota.

Romney and President Johnson clashed over deployment of federal troops in Detroit last month. Romney accused Johnson of "playing politics" in delaying the dispatch of federal troops to the violence plagued city. But the governor Thursday said he "wasn't blaming any-

A plank of the GOP governors' recommendations urged all governors to "review federal and state laws and procedures pertaining to the timely commitment of federal troops."

The governors declared the federal government had failed to allocate sufficient funds for its programs aimed at poverty in urban America.

The governors agreed that "a long standing failure to fully enforce laws relating to housing codes, health, sanitary conditions, gambling and narcotics" had encouraged disrespect for the law and made the job of the police more difficult.

Rockefeller said the nation's sprawling cities must create the incentive for private capital to enter the housing

Besides housing, the governors recommended the cities and states increase job opportunities; raise the overall standard of education, both in general and in the ghetto areas; improve public services to all state and city residents especially in the ghettos; expand cultural and recreational opportunities, particularly to the disadvantaged; and encourage individual. citizens and private institutions to par-

Martial law clamped on Canton by Chinese Reds

HONG KONG UPI - Hong Kong newspapers today said Communist authorities clamped martial law on Canton to quiet tens of thousands of Red Guards and workers who used molten steel as a weapon and ambushed ambulances to kill the wounded during a dusk-to-dawn

Peking Radio said Defense Minister Lin Piao, Chairman Mao Tse-tung's apparent heir, again appealed to the nation's armed forces to stand firmly behind Mao.

Travelers from Canton said workers splashed molten steel on the Red Guards in the Canton battle that raged for 11 hours and killed or wounded some 500

The federal government also announced that an eastern region plane carried out an air raid on the northern region capital of Kaduna Thursday. The announcement said one man was killed.

The increased action indicated a sharp escalation in Nigeria's five-week-old civil war. Eastern region leader Lt. Col. On Wednesday, Biafra attacked the midwest and later bombed the federal capital of Lagos.

With the midwest under its control, Biafra now held all of Nigeria's valuable oil fields. Nigeria's oil, which is in much demand in Britain and the United States, is a major factor in the war. Both Lagos and Biafra have demanded royalty payments from oil companies operating in the rich fields in the eastern and midwestern regions.

Nine members and guests, Miss Kate Oliver and Mrs. Buelah Funcannon from Gary, a sister of Mrs. Fred Beck answered roll call with their favorite pastime.

The pledges to the flag, the club creed and the words of the song of the month, "A Song of Peace" were repeated. A safety lesson on food poisoning was given by Mrs. Raymond Ader. The annual auction of articles donated by the members netted a nice sum for the club treasure. During the social hour, games were played for which Mrs.

Arthur Eggers and Mrs. Raymond Ader furnished the prizes. Cards were signed to send our sick members, Mrs. Ezra Arnold, Mrs. Roscoe Hillis, Mrs. Leroy Alter and Mrs. Edith McKamey. Miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Sandra Sibbitt Grimes is planned for the next meeting at the home of Mrs. Dale Miller on September 13.

Marion Crawley was here from Lafavette. Miss Betty Lee was home from Lexington, Kentucky. Miss Madonna Estep was admitted to the Putnam County

Try and Stop Me

BOB THOMAS' "King Cohn", the biography of one of the shrewdest but most cordially detested film magnates in the history of Hollywood, tells how Harry Cohn, at the outset of his piratical career, worked as a trolley car conductor in the Bronx. "The tolerant company," notes Thomas, "expected conductors normally to pocket 15 per cent of the fares. Young Harry Cohn reversed the formula, allowing the company 15 per cent. It was a joke among his associates that the company thanked him for bringing the trolley car back each night."

An English teacher in a suburban school near Chicago asked his class to list all the books they could recall dealing with horses—and was mildly surprised when on lass included that old there classic "She." Asked what on earth this book had to do with horses, the young thing explained, "Well, for one thing, it's by that famous rider, Haggard."

Federal jurist

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. UPI-A federal judge has extended a moratorium on executions in Florida and opened the door for a full-scale legal attack against the electric chair.

The action affects 51 men being held in death row at Raiford prison and could provide the groundwork for elimination of death as a form of punishment in the United States.

In addition to extending an earlier ruling that all executions in Florida be upheld pending the outcome of the landmark case, U.S. District Court Judge William McRae also granted permission for attorneys of the American Civil Liberties Union and the NAACP legal defense fund to enter death row and interview all the prisoners held there with the view of bringing a massive attack against the death chair.

The action was similar to an earlier ruling in California last month in which U.S. District Court Judge Robert Peckman issued a stay of execution for 58 persons held in California's death row.

The ACLU brought the Florida suit on behalf of six condemned men, claiming that the death penalty is "cruel and unusual" and that the state's capital trial laws unbalance the scales of justice against accused murders and rapists.

Many constitutional lawyers believe that if enough states abolish the death penalty, the Supreme Court eventually will have to rule that such punishment is "cruel and unusual" as defined in the constitution.

Cuts will hit traffic safety

INDIANAPOLIS UPI Governor Branigin's traffic safety coordinator said Thursday that if Congress cuts traffic safety funds 80 per cent, it also should make a corresponding cutback in the duties imposed on states by the 1966 Highway Safety Act.

David J. Allen made the comment at a meeting of the Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee. He pointed out that the House reduced the $100 million appropriation intended to help states carry out the federal mandates to $20 million. The matter now is before the Senate Appropriations Committee.

"The states cannot absorb this difference," Allan said. He agreed that until cost studies requested by the Department 'o Transportation are completed, the exact cost will not be

But he pointed out that for Indiana, such an 80 per cent cutback would mean that instead of the $2.9 million expected, the state would get a little more than half-million

The department has set 13 | 1255 standards it expects the states to reach in fulfilling the intent of the federal safety act, and has indicated the nature of four more standards. Allen asked the various state departments involved to have estimated costs ready by Aug. 15 so he can coordinate a report to director William Haddon Jr. of the National Highway Safety Bureau.

However, Allen said a casual survey indicates the cost will far exceed $500,000. The sta 1ards involve mandatory periodic motor vehicle inspection, changes in driver education, driver licensing revisions, indentification of high accident locations emergency medical services and several other areas.

Allen said he believes the penalty of 10 per cent of federal highway funds which is called for in the act should not be imposed under the circumstanc-
